Crime prevention advice

If you're heading away on your summer holidays over the next couple of months, it is important to take steps to secure your property from opportunistic criminals.

- Securing your property. Making sure windows, doors and outdoor buildings are secured and locked before you plan to go away for a long period of time.
- Setting up security lights with sensors or timers to come on in the evening to make it less appealing to potential criminals.
- Installing doorbell CCTV that activates when somebody enters your driveway. Be sure to do your own research on different types as some require a subscription service to playback footage.
- Like outdoor lights, you can also set lights and other devices to come on inside your property to make it appear as though people are home.
- Ask your neighbour or family to park a vehicle on your drive while you are away.

We did

We issued warning notices to vehicles parked on the double zig zags.
If vehicles were seen to be continuing to park there after the warning these were then issued parking fines.
